NINETY FOURTH YEAR.

ST. LOUIS. MO., SUNDAY, JUNE 15, 1902.

YOU CAN TALK

About the winner

And how he won the race;

You can talk about the sinner

And what he's got to face;

You can talk about the weather

And how it makes you tired,

You've a job or just been fired.

You can talk about it whether

You can talk about your travels

And talk about your books,

And talk about your wife,

And the things that time unravels

Like the babbling little brooks.

You can talk about the bright part

And the dark side of your life. You can talk and talk forever.

But unless your talk is beeded

Then your talk is never heard.

You can talk to those who'll listen

To everything you say-

If a Want Ad is your lay.

N. B.-The Republic will give you the biggest audience in the South-
